SEVENOAKS

CHURCHES IN SEVENOAKS, OTFORD,

Parish Newsletter

27th November 2022

Today's Mass: FIRST SUNDAY OF ADVENT (Year A)

Isaiah 2: 1-5, Psalm 121, Romans 13: 11-14, Matthew 24: 37-44

Today is the first day of the Church's liturgical year. It is also the beginning of Year A in the Sunday Lectionary, the Year of Matthew (that is to say, most of the Gospel readings at Sunday Mass this year are taken from St Matthew's Gospel).

Advent is the season when we prepare to celebrate Christmas, the annual remembering of Christ's coming into the world. In Advent we also direct our minds to His second coming. It is no surprise, then, that these are the themes of today's Readings.

The First Reading – like so many in Advent – is taken from the prophecy of Isaiah, although rather mysteriously almost the same words are found in Micah 4: 1-3. It is a vision of the restoration of the Temple in Jerusalem (ie the restoration of true worship of God) and of peace among the nations. Christ's coming ushered in this new age, and this vision should inspire us to work for true worship of God and for world peace. The Psalm continues the same themes.

Second Reading: St Paul – using the imagery of night turning to day – tells us that as Christians we now live in the new age (of Christ) and should behave accordingly: we should “wake up now” and live in the light of Christ.

Gospel: Jesus compares His second coming to Noah's flood: it will be sudden and unexpected; some will be taken and others left (some will be saved and others not); so we must “stay awake” and always be prepared to account for ourselves at the Day of Judgement.

Fr David

GOD LOVES HIS CHILDREN

MASS ACTIVITY FOR CHILDREN

Whatever we do,
we need to get ready properly

Jesus wants us to be ready to welcome him. Noah was ready when the rain came. Noah was ready because he was listening to God and doing what God asked. We will be ready to welcome Jesus if we are being kind and loving, living as God asks.

Ciaran is getting ready for bed

Katie is going for a walk

These children are getting ready for two very different things. Draw circles around the things they may need.

A PRAYER TO SAY

Help me, Jesus, to get ready this Advent to welcome you. Help me to listen to you and to be kind and loving. Amen.

Can you break the code? What is Jesus' message for us today?

I can help

Who do you love and want to help this week? Draw them, or write their names, inside this heart.

When we help even the least important person we are helping Jesus.

Can you find some words which describe how we can get ready for Jesus hidden around this heart?

Start with I and then use every other letter.

Please leave your donation in the box at the entrance of the church on the weekend of the 10th/11th December.

Thank you so much.

The Virginal Conception of Jesus 1

Although timely for the season of Advent – when we prepare for the celebration of Christ's birth at Christmas – the question of His virginal conception may not seem the most important. Certainly it is not as significant as the question of His Resurrection, on which the whole of our faith hangs. And there are some very serious issues around, like climate change, global warming, and the war in Ukraine. But this question concerns Jesus' uniqueness, and any correct interpretation of His nature and actions is relevant to our redemption and salvation through Jesus Christ.

Some (but only some) Protestants do not agree with the doctrine, perhaps seeing the development of doctrine as moving further and further from the Biblical evidence. Some people of a scientific persuasion rule out the possibility of the virginal conception as being against the natural way of things. But as science cannot prove or disprove something like the virginal conception, or indeed His Resurrection, we cannot settle the question by using science.

We must be clear what we mean by virginal conception, which is the expression used in the Catechism of the Catholic Church §505. Notice that I do not use the term 'virgin birth', which is often used in this context but can be misleading. What we believe is that Jesus was conceived in the womb of a virgin – Mary – without the intervention of a human father. It is what medical people would refer to as virginitas ante partum.

Matthew and Luke – our scriptural sources for this doctrine – are primarily concerned to portray the virginal conception as a sign of divine choice, of God's favour towards Jesus, and of the theological idea that Jesus was the Messiah. It would have been expected that marvellous events – miracles – should accompany God's actions in human history, and especially surrounding the incarnation of God himself: see for instance Luke 1: 5-15.

Nowadays, however, people, even some Christians, are suspicious of the miraculous. I am reminded of the lines in WH Auden's For the Time Being:

*We who must die demand a miracle.
How could the Eternal do a temporal act,
The Infinite become a finite fact?
Nothing can save us that is possible:
We who must die demand a miracle.*

On the one hand, we cannot simply take a rationalist position and make the basic presupposition that modern man doesn't believe in miracles and so the evangelists (or their sources) must have made up the stories, coming as they did from a more credulous age. On the other hand, if we are to persuade people today of the truth of our doctrine we cannot unthinkingly accept concepts like the virginal conception and blindly follow in the footsteps even of the scriptural authors and the Tradition of the early Church.

What, then, are the pieces of evidence for this idea? The evidence falls under four headings: the evidence from authority, the evidence from inter-locking doctrines, the evidence from early history, and the evidence from Scripture.

Incidentally, I have derived these four headings from a book by the American Catholic Biblical scholar Raymond E Brown called The Virginal Conception & Bodily Resurrection of Jesus. I do not claim any originality in what I write, but I remember being taught at school that copying from one book is plagiarism, copying from two or more is research!

Also by the way, the phrase in the Creed that we believe in Jesus "who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary" doesn't establish the truth of the doctrine of the virginal conception one way or the other.

In the next weeks of Advent I shall examine the four types of evidence.

LATIN ANTIPHONS

Entrance

Ad te levavi animam meam, Deus meus, in te confido, non erubescam. Neque irideant me inimici mei, etenim universi qui te expectant non confundentur.

Communion

Dominus dabit benignitatem, et terra nostra dabit fructum suum.
