

LENTEN PROGRAMME FOR 2023

Tuesday evening from 28 February to 4 April
Food served from 7:30 - sessions finish by 9:00

SYCAMORE

Each year our Parish tries to offer a Lenten Program to help us deepen our faith. This year we are pleased to announce the return of Sycamore. The format comprises a light meal, short video presentations and an opportunity for small group chat. The material is curated by our own, and much beloved, London Priest Fr Stephen Wang, who now works in Rome.

“Living the Christian Faith in the World”

- (1) CREATION, FALL, SALVATION - The goodness of creation. Suffering and sin. The gift of salvation.
- (2) THE MEANING OF LOVE - What is love? How to love your neighbour. Knowing the love of God.
- (3) FINDING TRUE FREEDOM - Is there such a thing as right and wrong? Where can we find moral guidance? How do you discover your true identity?
- (4) FORGIVENESS, HEALING AND MISSION - Forgiveness and the Sacrament of Confession. Healing and the Sacrament of the Sick. Christian mission and the call to share our faith.
- (5) THE SOCIAL TEACHING OF THE CHURCH - The dignity of the human person and the right to life. Christian teaching about family and society. Speaking the truth and following conscience.
- (6) THE CHRISTIAN VOCATIONS - The meaning of vocation. Marriage and family life. Ordination and consecrated life.

See <http://www.sevrcparish.org.uk/> for registration or hand in completed form to Parish secretary

Thursday evening from 2nd March to 23rd March
Refreshments from 7:00pm, talks at 7:30pm

‘Remember that you are dust, and to dust you shall return’

With these words Ash Wednesday encourages us to return to the beginning, to take a step back and gain perspective over our lives and over our faith to prepare ourselves for Easter. Make the most of your Lent by coming to these Lenten talks and prepare well for Easter.

March 2nd: ‘Getting the Most out of Lent’. Fr Matthew O’Gorman, Parish Priest of Corpus Christi, Brixton Hill, will base his talk on the powerful witness of St Catherine of Siena. How can she help us to get the most out of Lent?

March 9th: ‘Signs of Hope in a broken world’. Sr Dr Gemma Simmonds CJ, Fellow of the Margaret Beaufort Institute of Theology, Cambridge. In a world rife with injustice and conflict how do we find hope this Lent?

March 16th: ‘Consolation of the Cross’. Fr Lawrence Pew OP, Prior and Parish Priest of St Dominic’s Priory, Haverstock Hill. He reflects on the consolations we receive from our Crucified Saviour.

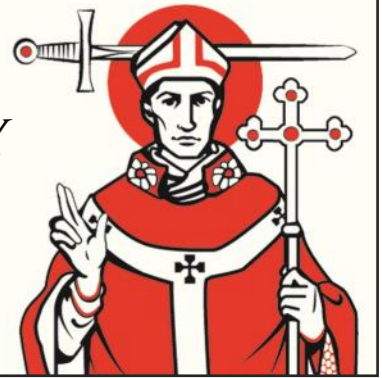

March 23rd: ‘Preparing for Holy Week’. Fr Tom Lynch, PP of English Martyrs, Strood. Holy Week is the most important and sacred week for Christians throughout the world. How do we prepare for it?

Parish Newsletter

12th February 2023

Today’s Mass: SIXTH SUNDAY of the YEAR (Year A)

Sirach 15: 16-21, Psalm 118, 1 Corinthians 2: 6-10, Matthew 5: 17-37

First Reading: we have free will, but God does not want us to sin. We can choose to keep the commandments faithfully.

Psalm: following God’s law is the only thing which can bring happiness, but to do that requires God’s help.

Second Reading: Paul is here cleverly using the Corinthian’s own philosophical vocabulary against them: they are claiming to be ‘spiritual’ but in fact are not. The true wisdom of the Spirit is quite beyond ordinary human knowledge and language.

The sayings in today’s Gospel are only found in Matthew, although Jesus’ claim to be fulfilling the law and the prophets rather than abolishing them and His criticism of the scribes and Pharisees are common enough.

The first point is that we cannot reject the Old Testament: it is part of our salvation history, and Christ does not make sense without it. So the Ten Commandments for example are still in force; we cannot replace them with a vague, hippy-style appeal to love. Secondly, Jesus has some hard things to say about anger, lust, divorce, and oaths. There will few of us who can measure our own lives against these commandments and not be provoked to go to Confession, to acknowledge our shortfalls!

Jesus’ admonition to make peace before coming to make an offering at the altar lies behind the practice of the Sign of Peace at Mass.

Unmuddle these letters to show who each person is. Then draw a line from each person to the words which tell us what they do.

Jesus tells his friends that he has come to help them to follow God's laws. God has given us commandments, so that we will know how to live and be safe and happy. God wants us to be kind and loving. If we follow Jesus, we will be following God's laws.

St Thomas's Church & Parish Centre

We keep finding lights left on, windows - even doors - left open and so on, with a consequent waste of energy and money and a security risk. Fire doors are also sometimes left propped open.

If you are the last person down from the gallery, or the last person to exit the Centre, or the last user of the kitchen or the lavatories, please turn off the lights and close the fire doors. Otherwise you could end up being personally liable if there is any damage or a fire, and energy bills are quite high enough without wasting electricity.

DIOCESAN & OTHER NOTICES

The Episcopal Ordination of the Bishop-Elect will take place in St George's Cathedral on Tuesday 21st February at 12:30pm. All are welcome to attend; please be seated by midday. Refreshments afterwards.

From the Desk of the Parish Priest

The Legacy of Pope Benedict XVI: 4. Summary

Previously I have written about Pope Benedict's Encyclicals, so I won't repeat that, except to say that if you haven't read Deus Caritas Est ('God is Love') then do so; it is short and easy to read. I have described his thought in certain key areas. There is little disagreement about his importance as a theologian: he wrote more than 60 books as well as countless articles, speeches and other works. Indeed the argument is being made that should he be canonised as a saint he should be ranked as a Doctor of the Church, only the third Pontiff to be so after Pope St Leo the Great and Pope St Gregory the Great.

But what of his legacy apart from his theology? He largely continued the approach of his predecessor and friend Pope St John Paul II, and was regarded as being on the conservative side, restating traditional Catholic teaching on the controversial issues of the day. He had had a reputation as the 'panzer cardinal' as Prefect of the CDF, and so it came as a surprise when his first Encyclical, Deus Caritas Est, was about love.

He was a very gentle and humble man, and as I have hinted very much an academic theologian, not an administrator or man of decisive action. It was on his watch that the scandal of child abuse in many countries broke, and although he passed strict legislation against child abusers and was the first Pope to meet abuse victims, it was widely considered that he didn't succeed in mastering the problem.

He was very much a Pope of unity. He made overtures to the Eastern Orthodox, for example renouncing the title Patriarch of the West (although quite why this title upset the Orthodox is beyond me; I would have thought it was one papal title of which they approved; can anyone enlighten me?) and set up the Ordinariates to bring Anglicans into the barque of Peter while continuing to have their Anglican patrimony.

His 'other worldliness' became evident when he inadvertently upset many Moslems in a speech at Regensburg, although somewhat ironically the violent reaction somewhat illustrated the point he was trying to make.

In the short term a major part of his legacy was his resignation in 2013, citing age and health concerns. It remains to be seen if subsequent Popes follow his example in this; if they do his resignation will seem both significant (in enabling papal resignations, something which hadn't happened for hundreds of years) and normal. He was, perhaps, overwhelmed by the scale of the problems he faced.

Benedict was, despite his shyness, a very popular Pope, attracting many more pilgrims to Wednesday audiences than Pope Francis does, and there is no doubt that his papacy inspired an upturn in priestly vocations. Although he became Pope Joseph Ratzinger never sought or loved power.

But above all Joseph Ratzinger's legacy will be intellectual. As a man of deep faith, he was an influential expert at the Second Vatican Council, he engaged in the debate on faith and reason, he championed the validity of faith in what has become a profoundly relativistic age, and most of all he sought to show how Jesus Christ is the centre of all things and gives direction and a greater horizon to human beings in an age beset by the trivialising of life and the reduction of the true meaning of the human person.

According to their 'Formula' every Jesuit is supposed 'to keep God before his eyes as long as he lives'. Throughout his priestly and episcopal life, his academic teaching, his service in the Vatican curia, and his pontificate, Benedict did just that. With a very sincere and evident personal faith he kept God, not just any God but the "face we recognise in love lived out to the end, Jesus Christ", constantly before his eyes.

Let me conclude with some words of Pope Benedict, spoken at the Synod of Bishops in 2008:

"The history of salvation is not a small event, on a poor planet, in the immensity of the universe. It is not a minimal thing which happens by chance on a lost planet. It is the motive for everything, the motive for creation. Everything is created so that this story can exist, the encounter between God and his creature".

Confessions are heard in St Thomas’s on Saturdays 10:30 – 11:00am and 5:15 – 5:45pm. Priests will always hear your Confession at other times and in the three Chapels if they can.

‘Renewed in Hope’

The Archdiocesan Spirituality Commission is offering a Retreat experience for individuals in Lent 2023. Drawing on the Sunday Mass readings it will help participants to find fresh ways of living and working in hope. It is based on a weekly email with a link to a 20 minute video, in which the Archbishop will introduce the theme and a witness will speak of the relevance in their daily life.

All you have to do is to sign up at <http://eepurl.com/hVT7Dy> and set aside space for reflection.
